DO THEY DATE AS THEY VOTE?

Male students at a certain Illinois college gave a landslide vote in favor of prohibition. They declared their preferences for young women who don't drink, pet, smoke or swear. The question is, however, do those vote-old-fashioned and date-modernly, or not? asks the Montgomery Advertiser, editorially.

A NEW CLASS FOR FRESHMEN

The Houston Post in its Sunday issue quotes a notification of the George Washington University that it had opened an admission class for the nineteen-year-old, who is too old to matriculate but who still wants to continue his education.

At any rate this is suggested by that newspaper as the remedy for the many who are frustrated in their efforts to acquire a college education because of the high fees necessary to finance the education of college students.

The newspaper refers to the problem of the old man who wants to continue his education.

A CALENDAR PROGRAM BY THE JUNIOR HIGH

A novel program was recently staged by the pupils of the seventh grade in Wheeler auditorium.

It was an "Artists' Scena" and the action, Kathleen Commenz, presenting the program, was enhanced by the audience living pictures indicative of the twelve months of the year.

January, the old and new, was represented by Xenophon Nistopoulos and J. T. Hill; February, with its great men, by Mary Thatch; March and kite flying by Dick Caddell; April, with her showers, by Martha Horsfield; May and the graduate student, by Lois Moll; June, the month of bonfires, by Julia Hill; July, the patriotic month, by Charles Ray and John D. Comman; August and harvest by James Angel; September and school days, by Jean Wilson and Ruth Meeks; October and cotton picking by Harry Black; November with football and B.C.L.S.; December and Snow by Clarice Clark by Arthur Burnett.

Josephine Harker placed music of peanuts for each scene.

Mary C. Carter presided over the program; Pauline Hill conducted the devotions and Miss Kathleen Phillips directed chorus singing, with Miss Carrie Sims at the piano.

OUR RAKE HIGHERS

At a recent meeting of the American Association of Teachers Colleges in Washington, the status of our college was raised from a two-year normal to that of a teachers college.

PERSONALS

Miss Bealle F. Ferguson was a joint speaker at the March meeting of the Florence chapter of the A. A. W. U., and Miss Edna Romas, president of the chapter, and Miss Myrtle Emmons were elected delegates to the state convention to be held in Bienville.
OF INTEREST IN DRAMA

Kathleen Cottle has withdrawn "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" from Broadway while it was bringing in over $20,000 a week. She has sold the property, however, for the sum of $100,000. The play was written by Agatha Christie and starred Constance Bennett.

PATHFINDERS AHEAD IN INTER-CLUB COMPETITION

The Pathfinders club, represented by Ernest Harris Bills, was winner in the interclub reading contest for freshmen clubs which took place last week. The freshmen class, represented by Mrs. Elizabeth Austin, was awarded second place, the Dyersonians, for the seventh year, occupied the third position in the competition.

The freshmen class, represented by Mrs. Elizabeth Austin, was awarded second place, the Dyersonians, for the seventh year, occupied the third position in the competition.

INTER-CLUB CONTESTS

The contests being judged together, the clubs were assigned the following points: Pathfinders, fourteen and one-half; Dyersonians, thirteen and one-half; Athenians, ten and one-half; School, eight; Spartans, seven; and Homecoming, six. The standing of the clubs by points is: Pathfinders fourteen and one-half; Dyersonians, thirteen and one-half; Athenians, ten and one-half; School, eight; Spartans, seven; and Homecoming, six. The Pathfinders club has the most and the School club has the least points.

A FRESHMAN'S VIEW

Jim Jones, a freshman from New Albany, Mississippi, has been trying to find a job for the past month. He has been turned down by every company he has applied to, and he is becoming increasingly discouraged. He is thinking of joining the Pathfinders club in order to improve his chances of getting a job.

MAIL BRIEFS

E. R. Carter: "There are several things I can always count on." Gladys: "What are they?" Carter: "My fingers." Rich: "I am really finding it hard to live within my income." Shub: "What do you mean?" Carter: "I mean I can't live within my credit." You are the most beautiful girl I've ever seen. I long to hold you in my arms, to kiss you, to make you happy, to whisper in your ear. I love you." Rich: "Well, I suppose it can be arranged."
