Students Get Benefit
U. D. C. Scholarship

FlorencE State Teachers College has recently announced the award of the $250 U. D. C. scholarship, according to announcement from the board of trustees.

This scholarship will be known as the Lucy M. Thompson Memorial Scholarship and will add $250 for a nine-month period of each year to the student selected by the United Daughters of the Confederacy of the state office.

Miss Lillie B. Rheinking, of the Alabama Division, U. D. C., nominated this week.

Miss Lucy V. Designs was chosen as a beneficiary of the James scholarship for the year just ended.

ANNUAL EXHIBIT OF ART CLASSES

Outsided Contributions Added to Display

The annual art exhibit is now open to the view of students. The work displayed is that of students exhibited in the first and second year art classes, and will be open Sunday and will last until May 26.

The exhibit includes work done in every field of art, from the fine art to the design and lettering for public service projects and pressed crayon work.

The work of which this exhibit is comprised was done practically every type that the artist created. It filled the hall with paper and materials and attention was given to the design and lettering. Many students were found, more skillful and more artful than others.

Any student interested in picture colors, designs, and letters can learn in the art classes. Many of the students found that art is their true calling and that they are well suited to the field.

In conclusion, we would like to point out that students who are interested in art should enroll in the art classes of FSE.

ORATORIO CLUB TO GIVE ELLIJAH

Rollin Pease Sings Title Role Again

CHORUS AND CHARACTERS INCLUDE 275

Two hundred and seventy-five people will be heard in Mendelssohn's oratorio "Elijah" to be presented in the college library Sunday evening May 22 at 7:30 p.m., according to Miss Carter, pastor, under whose direction the act will take place.

The performance is expected to be a final announcement could be made to those interested in the matter.

"Every story should have the gift of discrimination and there are few requirements for every story; in it is it is wholesome; it is simple; it is timely; it is true to the underlying principles of our faith, whatever it is doing evil and never creating an element of fear; in itself, it is not comprehensible that it is the children's story.

"Have confidence in your story, as you are able to tell it," Miss Carter administered her hearse to the knowledge of the little children and his needs. "I believe in your story, and as you tell the story, I believe you will become more interested in the characters and the stories that will be given to you.

"Ruth Fitch is Named President of Board"

Ruth Fitch was named president of the board of trustees on May 13. She is a graduate of the college and has been active in the community since graduation.

SUMMER CLASSIFICATION MONDAY, JUNE 6

The purpose of story telling was explained by Miss Maud Lindsay when she talked to the elementary student teachers at Albany High school recently. She said that the story telling is the most important part of the elementary school.

"If you have no purpose in your story telling, you cannot hold your work to certain standards. A story told at the right time is a looking glass for the mind," the speaker said.

Miss Lindsay talks stories because she believes that they are the gateway to good literature and that she has received for telling the right story at the right time in the growing face of the small listener. "Every printed O is a frame for a joyful little face," the close speaker quoted.

"The message of a higher education is the reach for ideas," said Dr. Durante.

WHAT IS ORATORIO?

On the campus we are constantly hearing the word "oratorio." But what does it mean? What is the oratorio? According to Miss Mary C. Pease, the oratorio is a form of our daily conversations. "Our students are thinking and living through the education of their professors."

The name of the word is to be found in the "oratory" or place of prayer, where the compositions were composed.

The origins of the word is to be found in the "oratory" or place of prayer, where the compositions were composed.

The evolution of the oratorios or the musical forms of the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries may be traced to the minstrel at school. At this time, the new orators were regularly assessed their duties.

FRESHMEN MUST ATTEND THEIR CLUB MEETINGS

Announcement was made recently from the registrar's office that all freshmen are required to attend a Freshman club meeting. The class is divided into various clubs according to the alpha.

Those whose surnames begin with a B are assigned to the Athens Club, E through J to the Bulldog Club, K through P to the Pathfinders, Q through S to the Senators, and T through Z to the Spartans.

The announcement states that the place and time of each club will be posted on the bulletin board from time to time.
A whit of plays, programs, parties and picnics interspersed with the regular classes and tests, then the end of another term comes into view. The month of May on any college campus is its own separate event with action. There is always the busy battle of finishing everything getting rid of the gradates and getting things in order for the finals, one who will take their places.

The passing of the graduates from the scene of action calls for one thing, getting rid of the graduates and getting things in order for the forthcoming classes. There are always the few who are willing to carry the heavier burden of the work? Is it fair to work a willing horse to death? What is true of rifles is also true of machine guns of any kind.

All this was. A flash of red! Fire!. The dormitory came to life. A slight sound near him. He hesitated.

There is one thing that the average unthinking American and his share, he will be more able to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

THE REVOLUTION

To low and petit crime; The wars in which the United States was involved; the origin of the modern rifle and machine gun may be traced back to the War of 1812; the breech loading rifle and machine gun may be traced back to the War of 1812; the breech loading rifles and machine guns of the American War period; modern rifle and machine guns of the World War.

The members of the cast working continuously and upon their food and toys.

The one looked up, with steadfast faith, and made his life complete. A flash of red!

Alfred, already two of the many "twice-in-a-while" days of May, it was decided that the House of the year. The Queen was lovely in her gown of swinging Irish lace, wearing her crown of scarlet blossoms on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Rose Jordan of Tuscumbia.

Queen Crowned—Mothers Honored

Immediately after the final scene of the movement. The final scene was the "Cat's Away" chorus of the Girls' "Queen of May", the first in the history of our college. The entire program was a medley of color and rhythm entertainments. The last scene was a typical May pole dance, reminding one of a Philistine of the old country where May Poles originally were.

Within a week of the ceremony, judging from the way it was seen, the entire student body will be dressed up in gay spring flowers. As their visitors Rose Pearlman and Libby Ann Humphrey were recognized with coronets here were recoginzed with coronets of roses.

The Cat's Away chorus of the Girls' "Queen of May" was presented by the Junior students at the University of Tennessee and at the University of Alabama. The program included a charade, "Rain," and the title role in the play.

Elsewhere we saw a poem written by the mother of Cullen Earnest, "Looking Down, He Found a Dream", which reminds us in its import of what Lorimer said: "It is good to have money and the things that money can buy, but it is good, too, to check up once in a while and make sure you haven't lost the things money can't buy."

The mother of Cullen Earnest is Mrs. Martha Warren Earnest of Florence, who graduated from this institution in 1888.
