OLD THINGS

I have a fondness for old things in which I can place some statistics when it was acquired by my early child.

As a child, I used to read old newspapers, and especially those of my grandparents. I've been interested in these, and some of the old journals. I've known that I'm interested in them, and whenever I visit old print shops, they're always interested in old things.

As an old picture and a picture in my eye, I've seen a stack of old letters or the diaries of some of our great-aunts or great-grandmothers. Most of us, especially those who have been brought up in homes where old things have been treated with care, have always been interested in the old things.

No matter what you do, or where you go, you find that the old things will always follow you.

TAKING YOUR NEIGHBOR FOR A RIDE

By Margaret Blake

Sarah passed me on the road, just now, and I asked my little neighbor to go for a ride with me.

I stopped at neighbor Smith's house for a few minutes, and Mrs. Smith turned out of the barn and said, "Why, will you drive down and see Mary here again?"

As I was very economical with gas, and had finished a long trip, I cut my engine off. Just as I did, Mary came out of the door with a dog on a leash and a small basket in her hand.

"You have the glad news of your new job so you've stopped at the barn, and now are off for an old farm, useless to be off. Why, you don't drive down the street, don't try to reach out and pull her off the road, you're just in the way, and you must remember that, old man," Mrs. Smith said.

"Oh, Margaret," I said, "I don't think you understand.

As you are interested in old things, I'll drive over to see my neighbor."
Salvaged Society

Log Cabin Inn was the scene of a picnic given by the Sorority of Delta Delta Delta for the members and their guests. Baseball was participated in during the afternoon after a delicious picnic supper was enjoyed following the supper.

In addition to the club members and guests, Helen Jones, Frances O'Rear, who acted as matron of honor, members of the Executive Board, and Dr. C. M. Landis were present.

A Novel Game

The final examination of Miss Mary A. Richeson and Miss Sue Reams, students in the English class, was held in the form of a picnic at Log Cabin Inn, on Saturday, June 16th.

An interesting program was carried out, which featured stories, legends, anecdotes. Almon and children, Tom Jr., and Elizabeth Meade, a former S.T.C. student, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Feller.

Miss Mary Locker had as her guests among the club members present were: Wilburn Barres, Callie Earnest, Ruth May Hine, M. V. May, Mr. and Mrs. Lecher Tuck, Ruby Lee Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Smith, Miss Mary A. Richeson and Miss Sue Reams.

Among the other guests were: Mrs. J. F. P. Conner and children, Mary Jane, and Elizabeth Smith, Miss Parker, of Moulton, and Miss Wood of New Hope.

Further to witness the вышеописанные event were: Mrs. L. M. O. Baskin, M. M. Baskin, and Mrs. Lecher Tuck.

The following were among the Elizabeth Meade, Elizabeth Green, Elizabeth McCorkle, and Miss Dorothy Meade.

In conclusion, the students expressed their appreciation to Mr. and Mrs. Porter Feller for their hospitality.

Southern Library Adds New Rental Shell

A recent announcement states that the Southern Library is now offering a new rental shell for students. The library has expanded its collection with the addition of thousands of new titles. Students can now choose from a variety of genres, including fiction, non-fiction, and children's books. This expansion is a welcome addition to the library's offerings and will undoubtedly benefit students looking for materials to supplement their coursework.

Little Drug Drippings

Clay Frasier: "Why did you add that last line?"

Coral: "I didn't like the way it ended."

Clay: "How's that?"

Coral: "Well, it just came out that way."

An ambitious young pharmacist advertised: "Our bottles, if you can be enlarged, can be changed for the 80 c.c.""}

Clay Frasier and Bob Harper decided to give a long visit to the museum store.

Pine Riley's Mom: "We spent a whole nickel for a candy bar on a rainy day!"

Alvin Thornton: "The half a cent wild cherry is the best flavor of all."

Recent observations tend to show that the self-defined "Creme of the Crop" is now coming from the top of the hill.

Mr. Myers: "Mr. Carver, do you positively refuse to pay your debts?

E. B. Carter: "No, sir, I don't refuse."
